PROPOLIS:

This herbal remedy is produced by bees that at the end of the season collect resins from buds of leaves and bark of some trees. Thanks to its antibacterial, antiviral and antifungal properties, Propolis is particularly useful in case of immune system deficiency and against the upper respiratory affections of the cold season (such as colds, sinusitis, tonsillitis) and their recurrences.

CORIANDER:

Thanks to its antiseptic and antioxidant properties, Coriander supports Propolis in the prophylaxis of most common diseases of the cold season.
